Saturday, March 21, 2009 I don't know what to do with myself...I'm so bored, I think I'll take up embroidery...(found this on the net and thought I'd give it a go) Adnan is the captain of his school cricket team. He says he's not really very good with a bat, but he can bowl a lot faster than his opponents! He manages to hit the stumps with a very high speed. His opponent is none other than the captain of the neighbouring school, Israr. Israr has a way better batting technique. The game soon gets ugly and so does the weather. Israr tries to get Adnan out by bowling short. Just when Israr is in a position to win this cat and mouse game, Adnan drops his bat and asks the umpire to declare him out. "Look at those balls coming at me," he said. "I'm out!" Adnan then walks away and gets his bat back and rejoins his fellow cricketers. The game resumes and Israr's pace reduces. The next ball he delivers is in the direction of Adnan who has no idea where the ball is heading. There is a loud thud and Adnan's glove is flying into the air. Israr has thrown the ball at Adnan's legs. "That was my most powerful shot," said Israr as he gloats at Adnan who is crying on the ground. The game is called off immediately and Israr, the captain of the neighbouring school, wins the game. "Come on Adnan, cheer up," says Israr. "Maybe the next time I send the ball at your legs, it won't hit your glove and you'll be out!" Tina Foster was best friends with her sister, Holly, until the day Holly started to hang out with a group of girls. Holly told Tina that her new friends were mean and mean girls. What did Tina do? She got them all into trouble! Puddin- I like this one and I had to check out the story to see how it turned out, it sounded like a great story. Picture Book - I have to admit I do like this book a lot. I have to wait for the paperback but I love the illustrations. They just pop up out of the pages and capture your heart. Willy & Kate - The boy and girl was a cute animal, but they both scared me to death. I'm

1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates generally to a power system, and more particularly to a power system for a vehicle. 2. Description of Related Art Conventionally, a power system for a vehicle is known, and an example of the power system for the vehicle is disclosed in Japanese Patent Application Publication No. 2012-260840 (JP 2012-260840 A). In the power system for the vehicle disclosed in JP 2012-260840 A, an electric motor connected to a crankshaft of an engine is driven by an output of the engine to rotate the crankshaft of the engine, thereby driving an oil pump to supply oil to a transmission. In the power system for the vehicle disclosed in JP 2012-260840 A, the electric motor is controlled based on the engine output. Thus, since the electric motor is controlled in a wide range from an idling speed to a maximum engine speed, the electric motor is worn out early. Q: Using the first alpha numeric characters to generate a random number in python I would like to know how to generate a random number using the first alpha numeric characters in a given string. For instance: ar_ax is the string "ax" ar1v is the string "1v" What I would like to do is generate a random number from the first two letters only. Is this possible? If so, how would I go about implementing the code to do so? I am relatively new to Python so I'm not sure where to start. A: The random.choice() function returns a random element from a sequence. You can use the method to only choose elements from the beginning of the sequence: import random random.choice([a,b,c,d,e]) From the docs: choices is either an iterable or a string. The elements in choices will be tried, in order, until one of the elements in the iterable is found. If choices is a string, a substring will be chosen, where the substring begins at the first character of choices and extends for up to len(choices) characters.
