Freebee 2.0 is a Windows Pocket PC application that allows users to download email messages to a local calendar or to a personal folder on their computer. You may either just download email messages to your computer, or download your entire Inbox in a zip format. This application is developed for Windows CE. Home or Garden is a suite of garden tools, computer tools, CD and audio playback software. This suite of tools is designed with the aid of computer tools that allow the user to navigate through an integrated database, select tools, read manuals, get help and more. The suite consists of a calculator, a system monitor, a customizable display, a computer 'it' and the possibility to record and play back audio CDs. Each of the tools has a personalized working space where the user can write their personal notes, programs and a web browser will be available. There are several screensavers that work with Home or Garden, except for the one called Lacy Daisies. You'll be able to record your custom screensavers and have them play back after you've created them. The homepage of the suite offers links to information and help. This link leads to a bookmark list where you can add links to pages you visit frequently, as well as an option to add Internet links to favorite pages. This is the core tool of the set, the calculator. The calculator has an overall look of an electronic pocket calculator; the alpha, beta, delta and gamma functions are easy to use; the calculator is very accurate; and the volume of features is unsurpassed. The calculator has been expanded to allow its functions to be used in hundreds of ways. The calculator is easily configurable to set the shortcut keys desired. The calculator is also programmable with many programming languages. The home page of Home or Garden provides information about the program, as well as an area to record personal data and a link to the desired web browser. Home or Garden is designed with the aid of a powerful database engine. The program allows the user to organize, sort and search through data at will. The database engine can access directories and files, as well as web pages, email messages, appointments and online activities. When using the program you may synchronize your data with PC, Palm Pilot or Pocket PC connected to your computer. A great benefit of Home or Garden is that no data is removed from the database when synchronizing. Home or Garden is a fantastic window to your data organized in the most appropriate ways.

The Ergociser is a simple reminder program that can be opened only with an internet connection with over one hundred short animations of simple, ergonomically correct stretches and strengthening exercises. Combining gentle warm-ups, stretches, strengthening ergocises and self-massage, ergocise.com's reminder program can help reduce computer-related stress and tension as well as help prevent RSIs (Repetitive Stress Injuries) from developing. Most ergocises can be done at your desk, right in front of your computer. Some ergocises are done standing up. For a few, you will need a little bit of space. Additionally, a couple of ergocises require the use of a desk, chair, wall or doorframe. Ergocises are designed to be simple and discreet. Ergocises can be performed in everyday work clothes, although we suggest that high heels be removed when stretching the hamstrings, since they impede the stretch. People who suffer from RSIs and especially CIRSI (Computer Induced Repetitive Stress Injuries), such as Carpal Tunnel Syndrome, as well those who want to prevent CIRSI from developing can benefit from ergocise.com. EzeSync is an extension for Microsoft Windows, offering synchronisation with Microsoft Exchange and Outlook, without any extra software. The best working example of this is that you do not need any extra software installed. All we need is the EzeSync Control Panel setup and the EzeSync Security Option. This is 100% native to Windows. This is the easiest way to set up and manage your EzeSync experience, but there is one thing to keep in mind: the application is only compatible with Windows 7 and 8, but not with Windows Vista or XP. A keyboard shortcut can be setup for easier usage. If you are connected with a Windows 7/8 device: you will be able to press Ctrl+Q to start the Exchange synchronization process. The application does not come bundled with a toolbar. You can however setup a new one with a quick click. This toolbar can host various buttons, including e-mail log, e-mail reports or e-mail options. This extension will guide you through the setup process for your EzeSync experience. Just open the EzeSync Control Panel setup and you will get it. In addition, the e-mail reports and buttons can be easily adjusted using the e-mail options tool. EzeSync Extension -
